

2020 Medical Assisting Educator Compensation and Benefits Report

Of survey respondents who identified primarily as medical assisting educators, about 89% of medical assisting educators surveyed work full time, with the other 11% teaching part time. The majority (91%) of full-time educators receive their compensation in the form of an annual salary, while around 9% are paid hourly.

Compensation

On average, full-time medical assisting educators reported earning an annual gross salary of $57,518, with nearly 34% reporting that they earn at least $65,000 annually and 21% reporting more than $75,000 in annual earnings. The breakdown of educators' salaries by years of experience is shown in Table 5.

Employment benefits

Insurance

Nearly 87% of full-time educators receive major medical coverage and 91% receive dental insurance. Discount prescription coverage, accidental death, disability, basic hospitalization, and vision were over 50% rates. Rates of coverage for full-time educators are listed in Figure 5.

AAMA membership and conference

When asked if employers offer to help pay for various AAMA expenses, 47% of full-time educators who are AAMA members reported full payment of membership dues, with 55% reporting full payment of conference registration fees. Roughly 49% reported full payment of travel and lodging for conference (Figure 6).

Table 5. Average full-time educator salary by years of experience

Experience	Salary
0–2 years	$57,567
3–5 years	55,207
6–9 years	52,458
10–15 years	60,917
16+ years	59,287
Overall	57,518

Figure 5. Insurance benefits received by full-time educators

Figure 6. Dues assistance received by full-time educators

